

Crown of independence

With tears in her eyes she was sitting on a footpath .The dark was questioning her, nothing depressed her more then the fear of being a girl.

Shivering with cold, she stand and try find a safe place. Blond hairs , grey eyes a teen beautiful like a queen without crown. Rejected by whom? By a man or by herself. A boy saw her ,stop his car and offer to go his home."I think i know her" she says with quit eyes, boy open the front door for her

Harry are you there ? He replied yes i am. Come on i know , i told you he will leave you alone . A lot of thoughts, she had all memories. She reject to go with him . She ran and wants to end her life . she lost her senses suddenly ,a car come forward with full speed and before hitting her ,the car stopped. A man with black glasses appears. Lara forgive me ,he said . Lara understand the whole matter but it was too late . Wiping her all tears she said, clark i am not expecting this from you . How a man be so cruel . She leaves him forever